WHY FOOD TURKMENISTAN?

- Rapidly Growing Food Market:
In Turkmenistan, demand for food production, processed food, and packaged products is increasing every year; the import market offers strong opportunities, especially for neighboring countries.
- Import-Oriented Product Structure:
Many food products in the country are supplied through imports, creating significant export potential for companies that offer high-quality and sustainable supply solutions.
- Strong demand for international suppliers:
Local buyers actively seek high-quality products, reliable partners and competitive solutions
- Government-Supported Investment and Modernization Process:
The food industry, packaging, and production technologies are being modernized within the scope of government programs, creating an open and growing market structure for new suppliers.
- Direct B2B Meeting Opportunities with Buyers:
Food Turkmenistan provides the opportunity to conduct direct business meetings with importers, distributors, wholesalers, and public procurement buyers.
